Tony

We do appreciate you taking the laboring oar on the first draft. The draft, in my view, did not set forth (as a joint letter should) the issues in a neutral fashion, but really told the story from your client's perspective. Understandable, but not appropriate for a joint letter. I have tried to re-write the first section in a more neutral fashion (you all can judge whether I did so or not as I too want to advocate for our client). I deleted some of the detailed description from the pending motion section to save space.

I have attached a clean and compare.

Leon

Can everyone please update on status of any proposed edits, or signature approvals?

We would like to make some formatting changes (e.g. reinserting spacing lines etc.) but need to get everyone's feedback first.

Thank you,
